

Pulse Diagnosis Seminar By Greg Cicciu, L.Ac. since 1998

Come and FEEL what you have been missing.

Here is some of what we'll cover for 6hours:

- The yin and yang of the pulse
- The physical organ vs The function of the organ in the pulse
- Qualitative vs Quantitative aspects
- Breaking down the locations more precisely
- Locating pain through the pulse and letting that guide your acu-points
- The foundational diagnosis from the pulse

We will also cover different syndromes palpable within the Pulse as time permits!

- -Locating Qi and Blood stagnation/pain and where it is manifesting in the body
- -Food Sensitivities – Emotional syndromes, various blood deficiencies and hormonal imbalances

This workshop has A LOT of practical hands-on, visual aids and discussion.

Greg will engage and inspire you to experience the pulses in greater depth. He published in 2011 The Pulse Atlas, an illustrative guide to pulse diagnosis to guide conversations, and demonstrate a clear picture of the pulse. His second book with amore comprehensive images and descriptions of the 27 basic qualities will be out later this year!

This runs 9am-4:30 with two 15minute breaks and a 1hour lunch.

Cost: Pulse only $125 early bird prior to May 15th, and $159 last minute for the 6 hour/1day

Greg began studying Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine in the early 1990s. The first school attended was a Five Element School and the second school was a Traditional Chinese Medicine school. Spring of 2000 he met Jim Ramholz at Colorado School of TCM as Greg began his teaching career. Jim shared a great deal of wisdom with Greg over the next few years about the previously illusive pulse diagnosis techniques. In 2011 Greg published his first Chinese pulse diagnostic book, The Pulse Atlas. It is an illustrative guide to Chinese pulse diagnosis formatted to make it easier for students and practitioners of different learning styles to better comprehend the pulses whether you are a Visual, Audio or Kin-esthetic learner. In addition to treating clients his passion for teaching has brought him around the world teaching seminars on Auricular therapy, Tui-Na and Pulse Diagnosis for almost two decades.

More recent additions to his education and healing toolbox are Hypnotherapy and Cognitive Coaching/Change Coaching. His successes with these tools continue with smoking cessation, relieving PTSD, Stress reduction, Helping patients alleviate and manage anxiety to name a few!
