

The Monthly Qi

What's Happening at Southwest Acupuncture College

The Monthly Qi is a one-page Shout out devoted to the seasonal energy of the year.
Contact Sophia Bungay, Director of Admissions and Alumni and share your Qi with us.
Volume 2, Issue 9, November 2020

A Brief Update from the Administration of Southwest Acupuncture College

Despite the Covid-19 pandemic that is sweeping the country and the recent storm that suspended both New Mexico and Colorado in deep white snow, and also thankfully stopped wild-fires, Southwest Acupuncture College Campuses are hard at work.

The snow came at the right time to study up for midterms! Nothing like a cup of tea and “CAM” (Chinese Acupuncture and Moxibustion)!
~Susan Chaney, PhD. Santa Fe Campus Academic Dean

“It’s wonderful to have students studying in the library! All current students are welcome to visit.”

~Elizabeth Martinez, Chief Librarian

“Admissions is working hard with prospective students and applicants for the Spring 2021 semester. I have been producing campus tour videos for both Santa Fe and Boulder. Santa Fe’s is up on our website and social media outlets, and Boulder’s will be released soon. We had two successful Virtual Open Houses, where we presented enlightening and informative presentations. We had several wonderful questions about the program and hope to see the prospective students join us! For those that missed it we will be putting out the video versions of the presentations, shortly.”

~Sophia Bungay, Admissions & Alumni Director

“The Boulder Campus held its first Virtual Open house on October 26th. Our participants brought thoughtful questions and showed great enthusiasm for the medicine! We appreciate the staff, students, alumni, and prospective students for participating.”

~Rhonda Cooper, Boulder Assistant Campus Director

“Online clinic this semester has been wonderfully innovative! Supervisors have really stepped forward to offer instruction that wouldn’t be available otherwise with great activities and guests. Students are gaining noticeably in diagnosis and other critical clinic skills. The new Santa Fe clinic facility has taken shape and is undergoing a trial run with student wellness treatments! Thank you to Dr. Rossignol for providing this service!”

~ Dr. Pamela Barrett, D.O.M., Santa Fe Clinic Director

“One of the best things we can do is support our fellow healers with our medicine. I’m happy to have the opportunity to treat students every Wednesday, 11-2.”

~Theresa Sellers, D.A.O.M., L.A.c., Boulder Campus Clinic Manager

“Since we can’t have our usual Halloween fun at the campus this year, and to shake off some of the midterm stress, Santa Fe Campus is having a “Wednesday Chill” campus- wide virtual ‘Happy Hour event that is being planned for November! Keep your eyes peeled for the flyer!”

~Sandy Szabat, Santa Fe Campus Administrative Assistant

“As far as Spring 2021 semester, we are closely monitoring conditions and changes in public health orders. We have prepared to re-open employing hygiene protocols and social distancing measures consistent with the best information available for the field. We have reopened our facility on a limited basis for student free clinic and access to the library. Resuming a more normal onsite academic and clinical schedule while maintaining safety is our goal, we will keep in communication regarding final plans for spring semester. “

~ Dr. Paul Rossignol, D.O.M., Santa Fe Campus Director

